THE JUNIOR CLASS PROGRAM

The juniors are spending the month of February in practical work as usual, their assignments being to branches and divisions of The New York Public Library and to some other libraries in the New York district. They will return for class work again on March 5. On Friday, March 23, they will leave on the annual inspection trip, which this year will cover Albany, Boston, and Providence, and will come to a close on Thursday, March 29. Some of the seniors will join the party, although the trip is not a necessary part of their work.

The junior class has elected as president Louise F. Swift, of Mount Vernon, New York, and as secretary-treasurer Ralph L. Thompson, of Portland, Maine.

THE PLUMMER FUND

As announced in its letters, the Plummer Fund Committee desires to inaugurate a custom whereby each member of the Alumni Association may make each year a small contribution to the fund, the gifts to be received about the time of Miss Plummer's birthday, March 8, and in commemoration of this anniversary. It is believed that without hardship to any one it should be possible in this way to add two or three hundred dollars each year to the fund, which at present amounts to about $1,150. The hope is that eventually the interest will be sufficient to meet the annual calls for loans, and that the principal may be kept intact. The money available so far has been of material assistance to students who found themselves in need of financing the spring trip, or who without it could not have completed their year, and the Alumni may be assured that any money turned over to the committee is well used. The treasurer is Miss Eunice Miller, first assistant in the Economics Division of The New York Public Library.

THE OPEN COURSES

In planning the senior courses for the current year there arose unusual opportunities for consultation with experts and with workers interested in the subjects to be covered. This was particularly true in connection with school library matters and with the methods and material relating to special library work. The result is not only a strong senior program, but a large enrollment of auditors, who under the prevailing plan are recruited from those who have had sufficient experience to profit by attending lectures designed primarily for senior library school students. Although final figures are still to be assembled the count so far indicates that the total class registration is almost two hundred, and the number of individuals in attendance about one hundred and twenty-five. This is exclusive of the Thursday evening series, which is open to all who are interested. Most of the auditors come from the New York district, but there is one each from Birmingham, Ala., Eau Claire, Wis., Omaha, Nebraska, and there are two from Grand Rapids, Mich.

OUR ORIGINS

An alumna of the School suggested recently that this issue of Library School Notes contain a statement showing the nationalities and races enrolled from 1911 to date. Inasmuch as the application form used in the earlier years did not call for place of birth, it is impossible to give this with completeness, but the following tabulation indicating countries of origin, other than the United States, is believed to be accurate as far as it goes:

Austria	-	-	-	-	-	1	Holland	-	-	-	-	-	2
Canada	-	-	-	-	-	7	Japan	-	-	-	-	-	2
Chile	-	-	-	-	-	1	Norway	-	-	-	-	-	5
China	-	-	-	-	-	3	Russia	-	-	-	-	-	1
Finland	-	-	-	-	-	2	Sweden	-	-	-	-	-	1
France	-	-	-	-	-	3

The information at hand seems to show that almost ten percent of the past and present student body is of foreign birth. This, together with the facts that those born in this country unquestionably represent every prominent old-world racial strain, stamps the School with a cosmopolitan and catholic character of which it may be increasingly proud.
